

Ruta 1: Vallejo Borrego y Pinarilla

Topographic Profile

Characteristics of the path according to MIDE

height /altitude difference	99 m		1 h	estimated duration
altitude difference	99 m		2 / 5	track difficulty
horizontal distance	3,9 Km		1 / 5	required effort

Description

A very simple and perfect path to enjoy a walk through the countryside through various typical ecosystems of our community. It is highly recommended for families with small children and all those who want to enjoy a short walk in the countryside.

Our path begins at the Plaza de España next to the town hall. We leave it by the street (Calle del Viento) eastwards turning left on the first street, (Paseo de Santa Teresa) heading northwest. At the end of the street we find the fountain of Caño Viejo, which supplied water to the town and was the meeting place for its inhabitants. A few meters further on, walking along the street (Petрил de la Fuente), we come across the Oratory Cross. From here we take the street (Casa Blanca) until we leave the urban area.

We ascend a steep slope between vineyards on our left and grazing meadows on our right. This first section of the path is the most physically demanding one. It is 1.5 km of ascent, although on a very comfortable path. At the end, we will get a wonderful view of the whole of the town behind us. In front of us are the antennas of the monitoring station and data acquisition (INTA - NASA), at the bottom the hill of the Almenara with its 1259 m. height.

We begin our descent by walking along the main path. We leave the Cerro del Monje on our left. Here the landscape is less anthropized. The holm oaks and brooms form a set of very compact Mediterranean forest that allows us to enjoy the species of fauna and flora of this ecosystem. At the end of the descent we turn 90 degrees to the right to continue to the entrance of the Pinarilla. A forest of pines in perfect state of conservation that we will cross by its middle point in our way back to Navas del Rey.

MAPA DE RUTA

Fuente: Instituto geográfico nacional. Hoja 557 - 4

